

The Balally Players Theatre Company

Chairman's address

'Much Ado About Nothing'

Can you believe Balally Players Theatre Company has been doing outdoor Summer Shakespeare productions for almost 20 years? It's probably a form of madness given the unpredictable weather, but it is our great pleasure to present 'Much Ado

About Nothing' directed by Brendan Phelan in the beautiful walled gardens of St. Enda's Park, Rathfarnham, Dublin 16 and hope you enjoy it.

This has been a busy and productive year for Balally Players.

'At the Hawk's Well' by W. B. Yeats, directed by Aoibhinn Finnegan, won the Harlequin Award for the Ensemble Music Work in the One Act Finals and numerous awards on the Circuit. It was really special to win the Pat O'Grady Award for Stage Management, at the Dundrum One Act Festival, and we fondly remember our long time member who sadly passed away on 20th September 2017. 'PVT Wars' by James McLure, directed by Lorcan Dunne played in the Mill Theatre Studio in October and proudly represented Balally Players at the Bray One Act Festival in January. 'Christmas at Marlay', directed by Teresa Dempsey, was seasonal and heart warming. 'Of Mice and Men' by John Steinbeck directed by Kate Canning in February, moved audiences and got standing ovations! 'Little Gem' by Elaine Murphy directed by Karen Carleton in March, had people crying with laughter. 'From Page to Stage' in April coordinated by Aoibhinn Finnegan, gave a chance to try out some old and new plays.

Aside from the plays, we have had many sociable evenings, an interesting Mask Workshop, and an engaging Table Quiz set by Quizmaster Barry O'Connor.

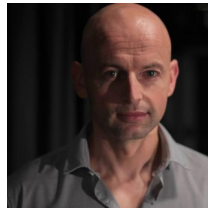

We could not have done it all without huge support and sincerely thank all of you who have helped us on our journey this year.

If you would like to join us and take part in the next chapter of our journey come to our Open Night in early September. We'd love to see you!

AGM 18th July 2018

Director—Brendan Phelan

Brendan is a member of any drama group that will have him. A regular performer on the stage, his previous acting roles include Alistair in 'Move Over Mrs Markham', George Bailey in 'It's A Wonderful Life', Lord Goring in 'An Ideal Husband', Gerry in 'Dancing at Lughnasa', Joe Fell in 'I Do Not Like Thee, Dr Fell', Bird O'Donnell in 'The Field' and Mr Collins in 'Pride & Prejudice'. He previously directed 'Plaza Suite' (2014), 'Almost, Maine' (2016) and 'Hay Fever' (2017) in the Mill Theatre. This is Brendan's first time directing Shakespeare for Balally Players, and he is keen to bring the fun and irreverence that might have been heard in the original performances in the Globe Theatre to St Enda's Park as 'what the bard might have wanted'.
